

Ms. Liah DeLeon

Teacher Assistant

Enrichment: Team 6

2023

Ms. Liah is a passionate and driven college student currently working toward a degree in Public Health at California State University, Los Angeles. With a strong commitment to making a difference in her community, she combines her academic knowledge with hands-on experience in early childhood education. For the past two years, she has worked in a preschool setting, where her love for working with young children has continued to grow.

Her journey in serving others began at a young age through volunteer work at her local church. There, she helped lead youth programs and community events, which sparked her interest in education, community service, and health advocacy. These early experiences helped shape her understanding of the importance of creating supportive and enriching environments that enable children to thrive. It was there that she first experienced the joy of giving back and saw how faith and love could shape young hearts. These early moments planted the seed for her desire to guide children not just in learning, but in growing with God's love at the center.

In her current preschool role, Ms. Liah is particularly drawn to the enrichment aspect of education—creating and leading fun, engaging, and imaginative activities that enable children to express themselves, build confidence, and discover new interests. She takes pride in bringing creativity to the classroom and designing hands-on experiences that are both educational and joyful. Whether it's through arts and crafts, storytelling, or music, she finds fulfillment in helping kids grow socially, emotionally, and intellectually.

Her work with children has also deepened her interest in public health, especially in areas related to child development, family wellness, and early intervention. She is passionate about supporting underserved communities and hopes to utilize her degree to advocate for accessible and equitable health resources for families and children.

Each of you should use whatever gift you received to serve others, as faithful stewards of God's grace in its various forms. ☞ 1 Peter 4:10 NIV
